This thesis entitled A Study on Distribution System of Rijal Tashi Industries (P) Ltd. has been written to fulfill the partial requirements for the Degree of Master of Business Studies under Tribhuvan University of Nepal. Therefore, it is simply the outcome of the research-findings of the researcher. Moreover, it has been written strictly based on the format of the thesis as recommended by the University.

This thesis is divided in five chapters. Chapter-I gives general information of Rijal Tashi Industries (P) Limited. It includes statements, objectives, importance and limitation of the study. Chapter-II deals with literature review. Chapter-III and IV are related to research methodology and data presentation and analysis respectively. Chapter-V contains the summaries, conclusions and recommendations of the study.

The main reason for selecting this topic is because of the researcher's personal interest to study the distribution system of the Company which is located so close to her residence. The researcher has been keenly interested to study the problems related to the distribution system of the Company and to give appropriate suggestions to it.

Preparing this thesis has never been easy. I have tried my best to make it academic and scholarly. I hope this thesis will be helpful to students and researchers who may like to explore further on this topic in future. And of course the suggestions and recommendations provided in the thesis will serve to improve the distribution system of the Company.

This thesis has been completed through the help and support of many people. In this regard I would like to express my special thanks to Associate Prof. Dr. Bhoj Raj Aryal of Tribhuvan University, who supervised my present work and provided me all the supports. I would also like to thank Prof. Dr. Dev Raj Adhikari, Head of Central Department of Management, TU and Prof. Dr. Jaya Krishna Pathak, Chairperson of Research Committee, Central Department of Management, TU. I am thankful to Mr Khel Narayan Parajuli and all the administrative staff of Rijal Tashi Industries (P) Ltd. without whose help this thesis would never been completed.

I am indebted to my husband Mr Som Bahadur Chemjong for providing me all the supports and encouragement and for doing all the computer work and design of this thesis.
