ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The thesis entitled "Pecola's Discovery of the Self in Toni Morrison's The Bluest Eye" has been prepared in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Degree of Master of Arts in English. It would not have come to this form without support and encouragement from my teachers, family and friends. I would like to express sincere gratitudes to all of them.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to my Supervisor, Dr. Dhruva Karki, lecturer in English, Prithvi Narayan Campus, Pokhara who continuously inspired and advised me with appropriate ideas and suggestions to this research work. This is my luck to get suggestions and ideas from Dr. Karki. He deserves special thankfulness from my part.

I would like to appreciate Mr. Hom Nath Poudel, the Secretary of English Department, Prithvi Narayan Campus, Pokhara for his inspiration and necessary guidelines. Then, I am highly indebted to Dr. Man Bahadur K.C. the Head of the Department of English, P. N. Campus, Pokhara for giving me an opportunity to carry out this work with appropriate suggestions.

I am so much grateful to all the members of research committee, English Department, for allowing me to write thesis on the topic of my interest.

I would never forget my parents in the periods of my success in any level of study and aspect of my life. I am flourished by the hard work of my mother Parbati Poudel and father Tikaram Poudel. Likewise, I am much obliged to my son Suraj and daughter Sujata for their technical supports and my husband for his encouragement.

Special thanks go to my friend Mr. Nagendra K. C. for he his encouragement to me to complete this thesis on time.

Finally, I am also thankful to The Everest Computer Centre, Pokhara-1, Bagar, and all my friends who have helped me in various ways during this research writing.
