ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Firstly, I regard myself fortunate to have Dr. Puspa Raj Sharma, Head of the Faculty of Management, P.N. Campus as my supervisor for this research work. I am indeed greatly obliged and owe deep gratitude for his valuable guidance, comments and suggestions for making this thesis to be completed possible. I am thankful to all the management faculty members of P.N. Campus who enabled me to get MBS degree.

I am also very much grateful towards Mr. Resham Bahadur Thapa and Mr. Janak Raj Parajuli of OFCL who helped me in secondary data collection and primary data as well and Mr. Buddhi Sagar Khanal of NRB Pokhara who helped me to collect secondary data related with financial institutions of Nepal. Similarly, I would like to express heartfelt thanks to all the staffs of Western Regional Library, P.N. Campus, Pokhara. Also the thanks goes to Mr. Ramkrishna Malla, Kanchan Computer Sewa for enabling me to present this thesis in time.

Finally, I am grateful to my parents and all family members, especially my brother Sharad Karki, for their help, warm affection and regular inspiration throughout my study period.
