ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is prepared as dissertation for the partial fulfillment of the requirements for the master degree course in management. It has been tried to cover empirical findings concerning tax in the context of Nepal. This study deals with the revenue collection from tax in different years, problems of tax collection system in Nepal and knowledge about the tax of different persons in Nepal.

At this moment, I would not like to forget numerous suggestions, comments and instructions given by Prof. Dr. Kamal Keep Dhakal, who is my supervisor and also respected Campus Chief of Shanker Dev Campus. This thesis is the outcome of his continuous encouragement, many helpful suggestions and comments.

I am very grateful to Prof. Bisheshwor Man Shrestha, Head of Research Department of Shanker Dev Campus and my other respected teacher and Head of the Research Department, whose valuable suggestions helped me to complete this research work. I would like to thank our respected teacher Romakanta Bhattarai of Shanker Dev Campus for the specially support. I would also like to record my indebt ness to all my respected teachers, all administrative staff and library staffs of Shanker Dev Campus for providing valuable suggestions, information and comments.

I would like to thank Mr. Dadhi Acharya, Mr. Uttam Ghimire, Mr. Prachand Bajracharya, Mr. Shankar Ghimire and Mrs. Srijana Khanal for them suggestion and comments. Likewise, all respondents deserve special thanks for their suggestions and responding my questionnaire, I would like to express my thanks to the staff of Inland Revenue Department, Bhairahawa, and Rupandehi for their help and support for data collection.

At last, I am indebted to Padam Ghimire to editing the manuscripts and printing this thesis.
