ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am grateful to express my deep sense of gratitude to Mr. Jiban Mani Poudyal, Lecturer of Central Department of sociology\Anthropology T. U., Kirtipur, and the advisor of my thesis for his continuous supervision and encouragement, constructive criticism and invaluable suggestions during the period of writing.

I would to like to deeply indebted to Dr. Om Gurung, head of Central Department of Sociology\Anthropology, T. U. for granting me to carry out this dissertation. I would like to dedicate this work to my respondent who helped in completing the dissertation providing the suitable material and useful information. The owners of the garages, the worker with whom I have taken help during my field study are rightful to my acknowledgment.

Likewise, I must unreservedly acknowledge my deep debt of gratitude to my parents Mr. Medani Prasad Mainali and Mrs. Kamala Mainali, who have always been generous and helpful towards my study. I also want to express my sincere thanks to my uncle Durga Prasad Siwakoti and my colleagues Niraj Khadka, Akash Deep Gurung for their directly and indirectly assistance. I also remember my Brother Sunil Mainali for technical support in bringing out this dissertation in this form. And, especially grateful to my all friends and to my seniors for their help and cooperation in preparing this dissertation.
