ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to my teacher and thesis supervisor, Prof. Rudra Prasad Gautam, Ph.D. for his valuable guidance, supervision and inspiration throughout this study, without whose support and encouragement, this work would never have existed in this form. He also supported and guided me for this thesis proposal. I am also greatly indebted to Prof. Dr. Ram Prasad Gyanwaly, Head of Central Department of Economics for inspiring me with his experienced remarks and academic comments to conduct this work.

My thanks also go to Baideshik Rogarpradhan Board for providing economic support to conduct this thesis. I am also thankful to my respectable teachers and economics department for lending me support and suggestions about the research work.

Finally, I extend my thanks to all my well-wishers who directly or indirectly led the way to support me during the course of completing this work.
