ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all I am delighted to offer my sincere gratitude to my respected supervisor Mr. Bhim Prasad Wasti, Reader, Department of English Education for constant help, invaluable guidance and enlightening ideas through the study. His patience, co-operative nature, enthusiasm, suggestion and interests in this study have really made ever memorable impression. Without his inputs and feedback it would not have been possible for me to bring this thesis in this final form. I feel very much proud to have worked under his guidance and supervision.

I am very much grateful to Dr. Gopal Prasad Pandey, Reader and Head of the Department of English Education, for his excellent support. My sincere gratitude goes to Dr. Tapasi Bhattacharya for her genuine suggestions and guideline in order to complete this research.

Similarly, my sincere thanks go to Mr. Guru Prasad Poudel, Teaching Assistant of the Department of English Education for providing me valuable suggestions to carry out this research.

Likewise, I would like to express my sincere and profound gratitude to whole family of Department of English Education, University Campus, T.U, Kirtipur for providing opportunity to conduct this research. Similarly I warmly thank my friends who directly or indirectly help me for their kind co-operation and help at many strategy of carrying out this research. I am thankful to my husband Mr. Giriraj pandey for their support, inspiration and encouragement.

Finally, I am grateful to my family who always encouraged me to continue higher education. Moreover, I want to express my special thanks to all the Secondary Level English Teacher of Gulmi District for providing me valuable data. Then, I am thanks to all the respondents whose cooperation and response is worthy to accomplish this study.

ABSTRACT

This research entitled Implementation of TPD Training in English Language Teaching was carried out to explore implementation and find out if the TPD training is helped by teachers or not. The present study was based on survey research design. To meet the objectives of the research, forty informants were selected using random purposive sampling strategy. A set of questionnaire consisting of both close ended and open ended question was used as tools for collecting data. The collected data were analyzed described statistically and descriptive. From the study, it has been found that teachers found themselves as highly motivated to apply new methods and techniques in teaching after the TPD training. This research shows that TPD training is essential in English language teaching (ELT). It has played vital role in their professional development of teachers. The status of TPD trained teachers in all aspects of language teaching was found satisfactory. According to them, training brought some remarkable changes in their preparation and use of teaching materials in language classroom e .g. using usually available and low cast materials, using games for teaching. After analyzing and interpreting the data, it was found that on the teachers are trained but the skill and knowledge obtained from the training are not applicable sometimes large classroom, school environment diversity or students many cause and difficulty.

This thesis is organized into five chapters. The first chapter deals with the introduction of the study along with the background of the study, statement of the problem, objectives of the study, research questions, significance of the study, delimitations of the study and operational definition of key terms. The second chapter contains the review of related literature, implications of the review of the study and conceptual framework. Similarly, the third chapter includes methods and procedures of the study. Likewise, the fourth chapter deals the analysis and interpretation of the data. Finally, chapter five comprises the findings, conclusion and recommendation in the policy related, practice related and further researches. At the end, the references and appendices are included.
