Acknowledgements

First of all, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor Mr. Rewat Prasad Paudel, without whose invaluable guidance and help it would not have been possible for me to complete this thesis on time. I would also like to record my indebtedness to Mr Tilak Prasad Chaulagain, co-ordinator of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, for his encouragement.

I am grateful to the officials of the four cooperatives that of Pushpanjali, Sakela, Charumati and Nawaras Saving and credit cooperatives of chabhil-7, Kathmandu, who despite their hectic schedule provided me their support and the present data of their offices for my research. Likewise, I thank the members and market representatives of the cooperatives for their support and availability for the case study and sampling survey.

Similarly, my thanks are due to honorable teachers and friends who helped a lot drafting this thesis writing. It would be unmindful on my part if I miss to name my bosom friends Krishana Rai, Bidur Adhikari, Lokindra Bhattarai who have spent many hours discussing and clarifying various theoretical, practical and data analytical facets of this work.

Also, I want to express my gratitude to my beloved wife Dhan Kumari Rai and family members Saraswati Limbu, Lal Kumar Limbu, Mauli Dhan Rai, Biva Maya Rai, Renuka and Tanka, Raj and Monika Rai, and my lovely daughter Phoebe Limbu for all their co-operation and every sort of back-up they provided to me while I was busy writing this thesis.
