Acknowledgement

I would like to express sincere gratitude to my supervisor, lecturer, Hem Lal Pandey from Central Department of English, Tribhuvan University, for his continuous support and guidance throughout this research project. His patience and encouragement, along with his expertise, have allowed me to explore the issues concerning the diasporic mediations in Middlesex. Lecturer Badri Acharya's help in identifying and adopting some of the complex mechanisms for unveiling significant aspects of diasporic identity in the novel has been invaluable. I owe my sincere gratitude to him for his support in the time of difficulties. Similarly, I am grateful to my external supervisor, lecturer, Jeev Nath Lamsal for his precious guidings. I would also like to extend a special thanks to the present HOD, Ammaraj Joshi, members of the Research Committee and all the faculties who provided this golden opportunity to do this research work.

I am much indebted to my parents, Kannya Kumari Magar and Deep Bahadur Magar who gave me birth, nurtured and provided all the facilities to reach this level in spite of their hardships. I would like to express my deep respect and wish to rest in peace in heaven to my father since he passed away untimely and prematurely during my graduation.

Finally, I must thank from the bottom of my heart, to my wonderful wife Bipana Magar, and all my family members and friends (too many to name), who through their love and support have created the time and space I needed to complete my Masters Degree. Special thanks to my friend Ram Prasad Koirala for his support.
