ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I would like to express my special thank to my supervisor Dr. Kamal Das Manandhar, assistant Dean of TU and Er Shanker Adhikary, lecturer of Shanker Dev Campus for his skillful guidance, invaluable suggestions, support and encouragement throughout this thesis work.

I would like to express my due respect to all the teachers who taught me in the course of my MBS study. I would like to thank to my MIS and DSS teachers for providing such invaluable knowledge in MIS and DSS. I am delighted with management knowledge that I achieved from this Campus. I would like to express my foremost gratitude to them all.

I am also indebted to Ms. Shova Bhajracharya, General Manager of micro-credit program of Manushi, Branch Manager Ms. Buddha Laxmi Malakar and all the staff members of Kalimati branch for their kind help and providing necessary information and continuous support and coordination in the preparation of this thesis.

I express my deep affection and thanks to my son Denish and spouse Dipesh who had fully helped, supported and encouraged me for the completion of this research and to reach in this stage. I am also very grateful to my parents and all other family members for their continued support and bearing with me during the preparation of this thesis.

Last but not least, I am grateful to all of them who have directly or indirectly contributed in my thesis preparation.
