ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This project report entitled “Issues on House & Land Tax Practice in Nepal (With Reference to Kathmandu Metropolitan City)” has been carried out for the partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Business Studies.

At the outset, I would like to offer my sincere gratitude to my respected project supervisor Associate Professor Surendra Keshar Amatya, Nepal Commerce Campus, Tribhuvan University, for his constant encouragement, patient guidance and valuable supervision at every stage of my work. This work would not have been materialized in the present form without his incisive observations and intellectual direction in the course of completion.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all my respectable teachers of Nepal Commerce Campus, T.U., for worthy co-operation and inspirations, while preparing this project report. I am also thankful to staffs of Nepal Commerce Campus Library and Tribhuvan University Central Library for their kind co-operation during my library visit.

I am grateful to all the Staffs of Kathmandu Metropolitan City for providing the information and necessary data sincerely and timely. My most sincere thanks are due to the respondents who, at the cost of their work and time, patiently answered the questions regarding the research. I would like to thank my family members for their valuable suggestion, continuous encouragement and help through the research work.
