ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Microfinance is financial services to the poor. This goes for the definition in Nepal too. As the government in Nepal has its whole national plan focused on poverty reduction Microfinance has a key role to play in achieving the goal of our government. Microfinance is definitely one of the tools of eradicating poverty and empowering poor people. However, it is also not a panacea. Poor people like rich have their financial needs therefore financial services be it savings, loan or insurance is a necessity of life for them. The major strength of microfinance is that it provides these services to the poor people and helps them to improve their economic & social conditions.

I am highly indebted to Lalmani Ghimire for his constant encouragement, patient guidance, valuable supervision and meticulous care he has taken at every stage of my work, without which this thesis would not have properly been materialized.

I would like to express sincere gratefulness to all my respectable teachers of Mahendra Multiple Campus, who helped me with their valuable suggestions in bringing out this thesis. My sincere thanks also goes to the staffs of Mahendra Multiple Campus, Library of Mahendra Multiple Campus, Central Library of T.U., and Rural development bank for providing related materials to prepare this thesis report.

Mr. Uddav Sharma, Manager of Rural development bank of Banke unit office deserves special thanks for his help in collecting financial statements and many other valuable information. Similarly, I would like to thank the chief of Financial Department, other staffs of Central office and the staffs of Betahani Unit office of Nepalgunj, who discussed in various aspects of my research work for the cooperation in furnishing necessary data, information and their understanding shown towards work.

I would like to express thanks to all my friends who assisted me in bringing out this research work.

Finally, I am heartily too much obliged of my family who supported financially, morally and inspired me.
