

TRIBHUVAN UNIVERSITY

The Representation of Indian Life in Kipling's Kim and Forster's A Passage to India: A Comparative Study

A thesis submitted to the Central Department of English,
Tribhuvan University in partial fulfilment of the requirement for the degree of Master of Arts in English

By

Radharaman Dubey

Central Department of English

Kirtipur, Kathmandu

July 2007

Tribhuvan University
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences

Letter of Approval

This thesis titled "The Representation of Indian Life in Kipling's Kim and Forster's A Passage to India: A Comparative Study" Submitted to the Central Department of English, Tribhuvan University by Mr. Radharaman Dubey has been approved by undersigned members of the research committee.

Members of the Research Committee

Internal Examiner

External Examiner

Head of the Department

Date: _____

Acknowledgements

I owe my greatest debt to my respected guru Dr. Beerendra Pandey, lecturer of Central Department of English, Tribhuvan University, whose expert guidance, dignified suggestions and consistent encouragement proved invaluable to me in shaping this dissertation in its present form. Words fail to express my feelings of gratitude to him.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Professor Dr. Krishna Chandra Sharma, the Head of the Department, for granting me the opportunity to carry out this dissertation. I am also grateful to my teachers: Professor Chandra Prakash Sharma, Dr. Arun Gupto, Bijay Kumar Rauniyar, Ghanshyam Sharma and Badri Prasad Acharya for their invaluable suggestions and innovative guidelines.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to my teacher Laxman Gautam for his mesmeric teaching and consistent encouragement.

I can't help thanking my friends: Bhim Yadav, Nabin Singh, Ramesh Kumar Katuwal, Pramod Thakur, Dilip Mishra and all who directly or indirectly helped me in collecting materials and giving relevant suggestions.

I am extremely grateful to my parents, other family members and relatives, for my work would not have been possible without their love, care, consistent encouragement and indispensable support.

Lastly, I am bound to express my thanks to my friends: Mr. Rupesh Thakur and Mr. Dilli Raman Subedi for computer typing, formatting and printing out this dissertation into the present form.

July 2007

Radharaman Dubey

Contents

Acknowledgements

Abstract

Chapter- I: Introduction 1-9

Chapter- II: Politics of Representation: A Postcolonial Study 10-34

Chapter-III: The Representation of Indian life in Kipling's Kim and Forster's A Passage to India 35-61

Chapter-IV: Conclusion 62-63

Works Cited 64-65