

Tribhuvan University

'night, Mother: A Celebration of Free Will

A Thesis Submitted to

The Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Department of English, Ratna
Rajya Laxmi Campus, Tribhuvan University, in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree of Master of Arts in English

By

Anjana Shrestha

July 2007

Letter of Approval

This thesis entitled “night, Mother: A Celebration of Free Will”, submitted to the Department of English, Ratna Rajya Laxmi Campus, Tribhuvan University by Ms. Anjana Shrestha has been approved by the undersigned members of Research Committee.

Members of Research Committee:

Supervisor

External Examiner

Head

Ratna Rajya Laxmi Campus

Department of English

Date:

Acknowledgements

The conflict in between an individual and the society regarding social norms and values has always been the subject of my interest. Society has certain norms and values and when an individual tries to move away from it, there arises conflict. What is appropriate for one may not be appropriate for others. However, one always finds his/her action correct, logical. Even the criminals are right in their own view point but are faulty in concern to others as they hamper them directly or indirectly. My sincere effort is to find out the reason for such problematic human nature in context to chosen play, 'night, Mother by Marsha Norman.

I owe my profound gratitude to my supervisor Mr. Hari Adhikari, lecturer of English, Ratna Rajya Laxmi Campus for his sincere comments, helpful suggestion and wonderful guidance throughout my work. Without his scholarly and genuine guidance, the research would not have been completed in such a short span of time as he is leaving for his further study in the USA.

Similarly, I would like to express my deep sense of indebtedness to my respected teacher Mr. Srijon Chhetri and my friends Yubaraj Chaulagain, Nitu magar, Shanti Upadhyaya and Matrika Paudyal and my brother Anup for their invaluable suggestions and providing me with reference materials for the research work.

I am also thankful to my brother Pradeep, sister Smriti and Isha and my niece Shreesti for co-operating me in typing.

Finally, I am grateful to my family members for their moral support and also I am thankful to American Library family for providing me with valuable reference materials.

Anjana Shrestha

Contents

1. Introduction
1.1 Free Will and its Celebration	1-4
1.2 Existential Condition and Suicide	4-6
1.3 Postmodern Setting	6-9
1.4 Feminism and Feminist Movement of Seventies	9-11
1.5 Norman's Theme of Problematic Human Nature	11-14
2. Perspectives on Suicide and Will
2.1 Suicide and Psychoanalysis	15-19
2.1.1 Theorizing Self-destruction	19-21
2.2 Rejectionism and Suicidal Trend in Feminist Writings	21-26
2.3 Existentialism and Suicide	26-30
2.4 Will in Schopenhauer and Nietzsche	30-32
2.5 Critiques on Social Construction of Suicide	32-35
3. Suicide as the Climactic Act in 'night, Mother
3.1 Death as a Wish for Unification	36-42
3.2 Pessimism in Jessie and Thelma: An Outcome of Existential Entrapment	42-51
3.3 Jessie's Suicide as Will-to-Power	51-56
3.4 Jessie's Resistance of Social Role	56-63
4. Jessie's Triumph on Celebration of her Free Will	64-67
Works Cited	68-70