Abstract

The present research work is the study of proletarian's reality in capitalist society. The research is able to show the emancipatory and inevitable change of society in course of time. The life style of both "haves" and "haves-not" people closely examined through their experiences. Like Harry Morgan, Richard Gordon's mission was to establish socialism by awakening the common people. Harry Morgan shows heroism and stoicism in collapsing world. He struggled against those who have the abounding amount of wealth without labour. Richard Gordon's characterization advocates class struggle of the proletariat against the ruling authority. This research work is able to show the fragmentation, disharmony and alienation of individual in capitalist society.
